

At the University of Graz, researchers and students work across a broad disciplinary spectrum to enlarge our knowledge, and find strategies to deal with challenges our society is confronted with and to shape tomorrow's world. The University of Graz is a place which combines high quality academic research and teaching, where achievement is rewarded, careers are promoted, and social diversity is encouraged – all within a modern, award-winning working environment. Our motto: We work for tomorrow. Join us!

With over 80 employees, the Department of Public Law and Political Science is the largest Department in the faculty. This makes it possible to cover a wide range of fields in teaching and research. Austrian constitutional and administrative law plays a central role in the activities of the Department, which is reflected in a pan-European context and from a comparative law perspective. The Department also makes a significant contribution to the University's focus areas of "Climate Change", "Dimensions of Europe" and "Smart Regulation".

At the Department of Public Law and Political Science at the Faculty of Law, the University of Graz is seeking to appoint a

Professor for Public Law with special focus on the practical orientation

(5 hours per week; selection procedure in accordance with Section 99 (1) of the Universities Act (UG); fixed-term employment for 5 years according to the Salaried Employees Act (AngG); expected starting date September 1st 2024)

The successful candidate will in particular be responsible for the subject of Public Law in research and teaching with special focus on the practical orientation. The focus of the professorship and the courses to be offered will be directed in particular towards the application of the law.

As part of this activity, networking with the relevant institutions, particularly at regional and national level, will take place in order to complement the field of teaching with this direct practical orientation. The successful candidate will be expected to supervise master's theses and doctoral theses.

Employment requirements:

- Austrian or equivalent foreign higher education degree corresponding with the position (doctorate/PhD)
- Habilitation or equivalent qualification in research and teaching in the relevant discipline
- Outstanding academic qualifications in research and teaching in the relevant discipline as well as several years of subject-relevant non-university practical experience
- Gender mainstreaming skills
- Educational and higher education teaching aptitude
- Qualification for executive role

The successful candidate will be highly motivated, aiming for academic excellence and integrity in research and teaching. He/she will have demonstrated ability to collaborate constructively in a responsible manner and inspire colleagues and students in an interdisciplinary, internationally oriented context.

We offer a diverse, challenging, team-oriented working environment and a high degree of personal responsibility. Working hours are flexible and there are many options for further education and personal development.
